

LABOR DEMANDS THE REPEAL OF STATE INDUSTRIAL LAWS

Colorado Convention Goes on Record in Favor of Beer and Against Industrial Commission and Statutes.

(By Review Leased Wire)
COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 17.—The Colorado Federation of Labor in convention here today adopted unanimously a resolution demanding the repeal of the state industrial act and the abolishing of the state industrial commission. The resolution declares that the rights, liberties and interests of labor are jeopardized under the act and that the wisdom and judgment of the officials of labor may be lightly waived aside by the commission as it sees fit.

"Workers will not relinquish the right to strike whenever that course may be advisable," the resolutions state, "and we shall resist to the utmost any attempts of the industrial commission to wrest from us any of those rights guaranteed us by the laws of the United States."

By a vote of 55 to 27 the convention adopted a resolution in favor of the beer amendment. This provides for the manufacture and sale in Colorado of beer in original packages. The brewing interests were sponsors for this amendment and the fight against it were led by delegates of the bar tenders union, Rose Winslow of Pennsylvania, formerly a factory girl, and now an inspector of the Consumers' League made an impassioned appeal to the convention for organized labor to urge passage by Congress of the amendment for woman suffrage. The convention will vote on the suffrage question tomorrow. Union leaders said tonight that the vote would be against the amendment.

VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN AGAINST EPIDEMIC

prevalent in rural than urban districts. The majority advanced the opinion that it was unnecessary to keep the schools closed in their states.

Assistant Surgeon General W. C. Rucker, who with the acting surgeon general, A. H. Glennan, presided over the conference, gave out tonight the following synopsis of the views of the speakers:

"It appears to be the consensus of opinion that segregation of persons with the disease is desirable and that opening of schools is also advisable. Travel is dangerous when it permits movement of acute or chronic carriers of the disease. The evidence is against insect transmission and transmission by food is hypothetical."

Reporting on a scientific study of symptoms and control of the epidemic in New York conducted by many state, city and federal scientists, Surgeon Wade Frost, of the Public Health Service, said:

disease is transmitted, not its cause. The evidence strongly points to humans as the carriers. The evidence is that it is purely a human disease and it contains a large proportion of persons exposed are immune. It must be spread very largely from sources other than sick persons, mostly by adults. Against that is the known seasonal prevalence. Our theories do not exclude transmission by insects. Transmission by the lower animals is hypothetical. We hardly suspect any but dogs or cats. Its rapid spread indicates human carriers."

Despite the New York epidemic Surgeon Frost said, the most striking characteristic of the disease is that it is most severe in rural communities rather than in cities. He said ninety per cent of the cases occurred among children under 10 years of age. There are few infections of persons exposed in their own families, he stated.

Dr. George Draper, of the New York Health Board, said quarantine of paralyzed persons was not effective against the disease.

The conference adopted a resolution thanking the New York authorities for their frank disclosure of conditions there as an assistance to other states in taking precautionary measures.

MANAGERS DECLINE PLAN OF PRESIDENT

becasionally as a husky employ griped his hand tightly.

"Just touch the President's hand, men," Mr. Carter said. "He is unaccustomed to your kind of grips."

The President smiled his appreciation of Mr. Carter's thoughtfulness. After they left the White House the men were on the conference for two hours at their hall, but decided to delay a formal decision until tomorrow's meeting.

Optimism marked every move of the brotherhood men during the day. They were pleased over the President's plan as outlined to them by their leaders in informal conferences and appeared to like it even better after their meeting with the President and the two frank discussions of the situation among themselves.

"It isn't dissatisfaction with the President's plan, or dissension among the men what caused the vote to be postponed until tomorrow," one of the leaders explained tonight. "The committee just likes to talk about the proposal and we are giving everybody who desires to talk a chance."

Leaders declined to forecast the action of the men when they vote on the President's proposal tomorrow, but everywhere the feeling exists that they would approve it overwhelmingly.

Every precaution was used to prevent any save members of the brotherhood from obtaining admission to the various meetings today, both at the hall and the White House. The plan of inspecting special tickets to members for use at the hall was discussed and abandoned because enough time did not remain for printing them. It was then arranged for several men to check up on the members, special guards were placed on all the fire escapes, windows and stairways and the doors before the meeting began. At the White House brotherhood men carefully identified every man in the meeting before the President spoke. The President's decision to invite the railroad presidents to the White House was reached after he had become convinced that the committee managers here would not consent to the eight hour day plan. The invitations were sent to 19 railroad presidents at first, but it was extended to all presidents immediately accessible.

rock and finally removing the 50-pound boulder from the injured official.

Communication with the hospital brought an ambulance with attending surgeons who received the patient as he was brought to the surface. He spoke composedly to Supt. Gohring of the pain he was enduring. Dr. Bledsoe and three other members of the C. & A. hospital staff summoned Major Bartlett and Major Bowker, army surgeons stationed at the Warren encampment, and they entered into conference after a swift examination of the patient's injury. It was agreed that an immediate operation to determine the extent of injuries was essential.

As viewed in the operating room, the spine was seen to be crushed at the fifth vertebra and a section of bone about an inch and a half long was removed. A thread of the spinal cord about a sixteenth the size of the normal cord remained. Recovering from the effects of the anesthetic, Mr. Lewis spoke cheerfully to Supt. Gohring and the surgeons. He retained ability to move his arms and head but the paralysis below his hips was absolute.

Mr. Lewis is an only son, about 30 years of age, and his parents reside twenty miles from Boston. He received a telegram Wednesday that his father was seriously ill so word of the accident was communicated to his mother who is expected to arrive in Bisbee early next week.

Supt. Gohring endorsed the opinion of the attending surgeons that it would be advisable to summon a specialist and Dr. Richardson, a distinguished surgeon residing in Los Angeles was communicated with. He will arrive here tomorrow and make a thorough examination of the patient.

Mr. Lewis was resting last night as comfortably as could be expected and the physicians said he was in no immediate danger. It is doubtful, however, if he will ever regain the use of his limbs and his life can be spared only in the event of a triumph of surgery.

BORDER SITUATION MAY FORCE BONDS

In a statement furnished by the treasury department estimated disbursement for the fiscal year 1917 at $1,126,243,000 and estimated receipts for 1917 at $762,000,000, making the excess of disbursements over receipts $364,243,000. This total includes appropriations amounting to about $126,000,000 to meet extraordinary expenses and disbursements incident to the Mexican situation, the mobilization of the national guard and the operation of our troops along the border and into Mexico. Six months ending December 31, 1916. Should this condition exist beyond that time a further appropriation of $86,000,000 will be necessary.

"In the opinion of your committee concurred in by the treasury department this latter sum, namely $126,000,000, should be financed by a bond issue. This would simply be following out the custom of this country but of all other nations under the same circumstance. Deducing this amount from the disbursement over receipts the additional revenue required for the year 1917 would amount to $224,243,000. It is estimated that the bill as amended by your committee will raise $205,000,000, leaving a balance of $29,243,000 to be taken from the general fund of the treasury, which amount on the sixteenth instant, including credits of disbursement officer to $134,337,895. Your committee is addressed by the treasury department that it is safe to estimate that this amount can be taken from the general fund without seriously embarrassing the treasury."

In its analysis of the revenue bill, as revised by the senate committee, the treasury department estimates the annual revenue to be derived will be:

From income tax $109,500,000; inheritance tax $20,000,000 for 1917, (after law is in full force approximately $35,000,000); munitions manufacturers tax $40,000,000, miscellaneous, including beer, liquors, stamp taxes, etc. $35,500,000 a total of $205,000,000.

Republicans Denounce Bill.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Republican members of the senate finance committee in a minority report on the administration revenue bill today denounced the principle of the bill as wrong and declared it overlooked entirely the "Serious International crisis" which the country will have to face.

"It is sufficient," said the report, "to call the attention of the country to the fact that the appropriations to this session of congress will aggregate approximately $1,700,000,000 and it is admitted that the additional amount appropriated at this session for may be termed preparedness is not to exceed $390,000,000, demonstrating that entirely outside of preparedness this congress has made appropriation of approximately $200,000,000 than any preceding congress.

"Moreover the minority does not feel called upon at this time to provide suggestions of ways and means for additional revenue. The statement that this additional revenue is needed for preparedness is entirely misleading."

100 yards of trenches northwest of Bazentin.

An interesting feature of the situation on the western front is that Germans, contrary to their usual practice, have so far made no attempt to deliver a counter attack in the region where the French and British claim to have captured nearly three miles of trenches on Monday. The French are busy concentrating their gains and report no action of any importance on any section of their front, including the Verdun region.

Some mystery exists as to the situation on the eastern front. For two consecutive days the Russians have confined themselves to the statement that nothing of importance has occurred. The Austrian and German war offices, have been almost equally uncommunicative. The only fighting mentioned by Vienna was the repulse of Russian attacks on the lines of General von Boehm-Ermolli, who is in command of the Teutonic forces repelling from the Tarnopol front. Berlin reports the repulse of Russian attacks south of Brody.

The hull in the Italian operations against Trieste is unofficially explained from Rome as due to General Cadorna's desire to straighten his lines before proceeding with a general offensive against the great Austrian resort. Austrian seaplanes have again raided Venice, but Rome says they caused only slight damage.

DEUTCHLAND THOUGHT SIGHTED

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—The sighting of a large submarine believed to be the German merchantman Deutschland off the Grand Banks Saturday was reported by members of the crew of the Warren liner Sachem, in a telegram tonight from La Pallice France and Liverpool. The submarine was traveling in a northeasterly direction at moderate speed. Soon after the submarine was sighted the steamer was turned toward her, the Sachem's officers believing at first that she was a disarmed vessel. A few minutes later the submarine submerged and was not seen again.

The quartermaster said that on her second day out from France the Sachem was pursued for 8 hours by two submarines, believed to be German. The Sachem, making 14 knots an hour, succeeded in keeping out of danger. The pursuit was ended, according to the quartermaster, when British patrol boats appeared and fired several shots at the submarines with what result it is not known.

GERMAN PLANS ON RAID.
BERLIN, via London, Aug. 17.—An official communication issued today tells of a raid by German seaplanes on Russian position Oesel island and of a flight against Russian aircraft on Runo Island, in the Riga region.

The Warren-Bisbee Railway now has car leaving Flood Gate for up canyon at 12 o'clock p. m. Former service up canyon ended at 11:30. This is decided benefit to the up canyon people. (Advertisement) (864)

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary multifid coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get multifid coconut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.
